Somewhat Changed by Roosevelt, But Will Hold Firm Rein on Southern Appointments and Give the Negroes Some Offices.

Washington, Nov. 21.—President Roosevelt is quoted today as saying that he was able to study the people of the south at close range for the first time in his life, and it may be said that his ideas on some subjects have undergone a change. He is just as determined, however, to hold a firm hand on the reins governing the federal office holder of the south. He admits negroes are not fit to be the guiding race in states in which they predominate, but, at the same time, he is resolved that all hope of office and political reward shall not be taken from them. There are certain offices that colored men can fill well, and it is his intention to give these places to them.

Roosevelt Returned.

Washington, Nov. 21.—President Roosevelt returned from his Southern trip this morning, the special train bearing him reaching Washington at 5:57, three minutes ahead of schedule time. The President will remain at the White House only 24 hours, for he is booked to start for Philadelphia at 8:30 tomorrow morning. He will return to the capital on the following morning after attending several func-

AMERICAN INVASION

Thirty Thousand Americans Have Settled on Canadian Farms During the Past Year--The Number Far Excels Past Records.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 21.—Thirty thousand American settlers on Canadian farms is the record of the last 12 months of the "American invasion." In numbers it is a trifle compared to the horde streaming into the states through New York, but there is this difference: The 30,000 are English speaking, progressive, and citizens of a class which the country would not lose willingly. It will take generations to produce their type by the foreigner coming in. The emigrant is an American citizen. The emigrant may become one after a generation or so. America

WILL TEST MEAT

Food Preserved With Borax is to be Tried on Twelve Vigorous Young Men.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Professor W. H. Wiley, chief of the Bureau of Chemistry of the Agricultural Department, next Monday will begin a series of experiments on 12 young men in Government employ for the purpose of testing the physiological effects of the use of meat preserved with borax and other chemicals. The experiments will be made with a view to deciding what basis there is for the objections of the German Government to American meats on the ground that the borax and other chemicals used in their preservation are injurious to public health. The 12 young men selected are volunteers and all are young and vigorous.

CONGRESS

First Annual Meeting of Ohio Congress to be Held in Columbus First Week in December.

The first annual meeting of the Ohio Congress of Mothers will be held in the First Congregational church, in the city of Columbus, the first week in December, 1902, beginning on Thursday, the 4th, the sessions continuing through Friday, the 5th. The general object of the Congress of Mothers is to stimulate active interest everywhere in all that pertains to the best development of children, and to this end to induce the formation of Mothers', Teachers', Parent-Teachers', and Home-makers' clubs throughout the country. Its work is educational in scope, and religious (though not sectarian) in character. This Mothers' movement is a promise of hope and help and joy to the home everywhere, while it seeks also to lend its aid in promoting the highest welfare of the school, the church and the community. We believe it should commend itself, therefore, to all thoughtful people. Any assistance you may render to further the extension and helpfulness of this God-given work in our Buckeye state will be cordially appreciated. The Ohio Congress of Mothers will give cordial welcome to all men and women interested in its work, and extends to all a hearty invitation to attend this initial gathering.

NEGRO LYNCHED

INDIANA FARMERS ADOPT SOUTHERN PLAN TO PUNISH RAPIST.

Identified by His Victims, Taken From Officers and Strung Up To Telegraph Pole.

Sullivan, Ind., Nov. 21.—James Moore, the negro who criminally assaulted Mrs. Mary Davis of Sullivan county, and Mrs. John Lemon of Knox county on Tuesday last, was hanged to a telegraph pole, one mile east of John Lemon's farm at eight o'clock tonight by a mob. Moore was captured at Lawrenceville, Ind., late yesterday after a battle with the town marshal during which the negro was shot three times and severely wounded. He was then taken to Robinson, Ill., for safe-keeping. John Lemon, husband of one of the women who had been assaulted by the negro, with a party of friends went to Lawrenceville last night and identified him as the woman's assailant. Late this afternoon he was brought to Sullivan in a wagon by the sheriff and his deputies to be taken before the women for further identification. The sheriff and his deputies attempted to steal into town with their prisoner, but a mob of forty or fifty farmers heavily armed took the prisoner away from them and started the investigation themselves. The negro was taken to the home of Mrs. Davis where he was identified and then the mob started with the negro for the farm of John Lemon, ten miles from this city. The mob in the meantime had swelled to enormous proportions. The negro was identified by Mrs. Lemon. The crowd then started back to Sullivan with the prisoner, but one mile east of the Lemon farm a rope was thrown over the arm of a telegraph pole and the trembling wretch was quickly jerked into the air. The governor had ordered out the Vincennes militia company to protect the negro but his instructions were received too late. After hanging the negro, the mob quietly dispersed. It was composed mostly of farmers, but was largely augmented by citizens of Sullivan, Oakland and other towns of this county.

DISEASES

From Which Miners Suffer In the Anthracite Collieries.

Seranton, Pa., Nov. 21.—Expert testimony adduced before the coal strike commission yesterday and today shows that the avocation of the miner usually brings on miners asthma and rheumatism. It was further shown that complications resulting from miners asthma were usually fatal. One doctor testified that a miner's lungs become so saturated with coal dust that even when the miner leaves the mines he coughs up coal dust for years. Rheumatism was found to be a common thing. Conditions of this kind, it was shown were brought on by the inhalation of powder smoke, coal dust, and bad air. Many miners suffered severely from being compelled to kneel in water while cutting down coal in low chambers. The Rev. Dr. Roberts, the Mahanoy city clergyman, was excused from the stand yesterday until the medical testimony could be taken. Dr. Roberts will be asked to go on the stand later. Dr. R. H. Gibbons, a physician, was on the stand when this morning's session opened.

MRS. NATION

ABUSES SOCIETY WOMEN AT THE NEW YORK HORSE SHOW

Harangues Upon "Indecent Dress"— Attacks Men in Cafe and Put Out by Police.

New York, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Carrie Nation created a sensation at the horse show today. She harangued the great gathering on the evils of overdress, attempted to break a bottle of champagne, and finally was ejected from the building by the police. Mrs. Nation entered the garden quietly and took a seat in the tier. She had been there only a few minutes when her gaze rested on the box where some members of the Vanderbilt family were sitting. She studied her program and then descended to the promenade. Stationing herself in front of the Vanderbilt box, she delivered a tirade on over-dress. In the box were seated Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt, Reginald Vanderbilt and Miss Nichols. Alfred G. Vanderbilt was leaning against the rail of the promenade and did not see Mrs. Nation approach. "You ought to be ashamed of yourselves!" the woman screamed at them. "You ought to be ashamed to wear such disgraceful clothes! Take them off; take them off at once and attire yourselves more modestly!" Alfred G. Vanderbilt hastily left his position at the rail and went over to where Mrs. Nation was standing wiping her forehead with a handkerchief. He whispered something in her ear and pushed her away. The outburst of the woman attracted a great crowd of people and the occupants of the Vanderbilt box were evidently very much embarrassed. Mrs. Nation then turned her attention to other boxes. Finally she started for the cafe, where she bore down on a party of men who were drinking wine. Mrs. Nation seized the bottle, and, glaring at the men, shouted: "You're men, don't drink such filthy stuff. You are going straight to hell. Where is the man who sells this stuff? Show him to me and I will tell him what I think of him." Mrs. Nation's request was speedily granted by the sudden appearance of M. Ville Pierre, the caterer at the garden.

"Get out of this horrible business!" she shouted at him. "You are going to hell and ruining the bodies and souls of men! You are dragging them down with you! Shame on you! Shame on you!" The Frenchman, however, ran to Mrs. Nation and rescued the bottle which she had repeatedly brandished in the air to emphasize her remarks. Then he pulled her out of the door. Here the police took hold of the Kansas reformer and forced her out of the building.

STUDENTS SHOT

Encounter Between Heidelberg College Rival Classmen Results Seriously.

Tiffin, Nov. 21.—As the result of an encounter Wednesday night between sophomores and freshmen of Heidelberg college, two freshmen were wounded. The members of the sophomore class held a party at the country home of one of its members, Fred H. Croninger. About 10 o'clock a dozen of the freshmen procured a lively rig and drove to the Croninger home, which is several miles east of Tiffin, for the purpose of stealing the sophomores rig, thus compelling them to stay all night or walk back to college. The upper classmen suspected the purpose, or had been warned of the intention of the freshmen, and in a long lane leading to Mr. Croninger's house stood guard with a loaded shotgun. When the freshmen arrived they were met by the sophomore guards who threatened to shoot if they did not turn about. The freshmen kept on till one of the sophomores discharged a shotgun. The contents took effect in the bodies of Edward Zechiel, Culver, Ind., and Le Roy Zachman of Marion. Twenty-one shot were taken from Zechiel's arm, and 15 from the arm and leg of Zachman. The latter was the most seriously hurt. George Gries of Tiffin also received a few shot in his leg. The faculty will thoroughly investigate the matter.

NEW CAR

WITH SPEED OF SIXTY-FIVE MILES AN HOUR

Put on the Columbus, Delaware and Marion Interurban—Made at the Jewett Car Works.

Columbus, Nov. 21.—The Columbus, Delaware and Marion interurban road Thursday morning received a new car from the Jewett Car company of Newark. The master mechanic of the road, Mr. Crane, brought it to Columbus. H. A. Fisher, the general manager of the road, was enthusiastic over it yesterday. He said: "The car is 50 feet long and accommodates 56 persons, 20 of whom sit in the smoking room. The car is one of an order of six. The car is finished in mahogany, inlaid with tulip wood. The seats are roll top with extra high backs. The prevailing color of the interior is Nile green. The exterior is painted the color of Pullman cars. The car is mounted upon a M. C. B. standard Peckman truck and is equipped with four 75-horse power motors. The speed of the car is guaranteed at 65 miles an hour and each car is equipped with a multiple unite controller, which can be arranged to care for a train of several cars. The same can be said of the airbrakes, which are automatic. The car has a new device, an air blast sandbox. The car is heated and lighted by electricity. Handsome electric chandeliers hang from the ceiling and between every two seats is a side light. Messrs. Dardell and Emory and myself took a short ride in it, and at 4 o'clock we turned the car over to the Hooking Valley road to be taken to Delaware. Some of the interurban officials who saw it pronounce it thoroughly up to date."

MARRIED AT LAST

J. W. Myers, Who Deserted Miss Belle Cannon at the Hour of Marriage Last August, Weds Her in Granville Thursday Night.

Granville, O., Nov. 21.—This village was the scene of the denouement Thursday evening in a romance that had its birth in Newark last August 10th. On that day John W. Myers of Clarksburg, W. Va., was to have married Alzona Belle Cannon, a highly respected young woman of Utica. The ceremony was to have been performed at the Newark home of James Holbrook, brother-in-law of Miss Cannon, and all preparations had been made even to the securing of the license by Myers, who then went to the Holbrook home for the ceremony. Just at the hour for the ceremony the prospective groom excused himself for a few moments and left the room, presumably to arrange his toilet for the ceremony. This was the last seen of him, at least that any one knew about unless it was Miss Cannon. The young woman was heartbroken at the desertion, and immediately notified the police, who endeavored without success to locate the recalcitrant lover. Miss Cannon could not understand his actions, and none but herself ever saw the note left by Myers upon his sudden departure. The event passed and had almost been forgotten by the public. On Thursday evening about 5 o'clock, a man and woman, who were strangers in Granville, were walking along one of the streets, and stopped three young women, students of Shepardson college, inquiring where the Baptist minister lived. The information was given when the couple replied "That's too far; where does the Presbyterian preacher live?" They were told and the same objection was offered and a request to know the residence of the Methodist preacher, was then made. This they were told, and they wandered down the street. Meeting a young boy they gave him a dime to take them to the Methodist preacher's residence, and here they were married by Rev. Frank Gilliland, pastor of the Methodist church. After the ceremony they went to the Buxton House, where they stayed all night, and registered as "Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Phillips, Cedarville, O." It was learned by the Advocate correspondent that the young "Mr. and Mrs. Phillips," were none other than J. W. Myers, and Miss Belle Cannon, who barely missed being married three months ago in Newark. It is known with certainty that they gave the names "J. W. Myers" and Alzona Belle Cannon, to Rev. Mr. Gilliland, and requested him not to make his return of the marriage to the Probate Judge of the court issuing the license until after next Monday. The Advocate correspondent attempted to talk to Myers, alias Phillips, this morning at the Buxton House, but that gentleman absolutely denied that "Myers" was his name. He admitted that he had been recently married but said that the wedding had not been in Granville. This part of his story is known to be false, and there is no question but that he is the "Myers" who so unceremoniously left his promised bride at the altar. Mr. and Mrs. Myers will make their home at Clarksburg. While talking to Myers, he wound up the conversation by saying "I guess you are on the wrong track," and getting into a buggy with his wife drove out of town. Granville is getting to have quite a reputation as a place for young couples to be married who for any reason want to keep the wedding a secret, as this is the fifth wedding of this nature in the town in the past six weeks.

DUEL WITH KNIVES

Fought Between Two Cousins on Ferry Boat, Crossing From Wheeling to Bridgeport--One Dying, the Other Arrested.

Wheeling, W. Va., Nov. 21.—Wood and Joe Moore cousins of West Wheeling fought a duel with knives on board the West Wheeling Ferry in mid-stream Thursday afternoon. Joe Moore is at his home in a dying condition and his cousin Wood is locked up at Bridgeport, O., to await trial. The battle created a panic among the passengers. Joe and Wood are both drivers and in taking their wagons on to the boat on the Wheeling side of the river they collided. No damage was done to either wagon, but hot words were passed and the cousins leaped to the deck and began to fight with their fists. Joe first drew a knife and then his cousin. The ferry was run with all speed to the Ohio shore and landed at West Wheeling, but by the time the float was reached, Joe had been cut down, slashed over the face, neck, shoulders and arms. His flesh hung in ribbons. Wood Moore left the boat in a hurry but was caught by the Bridgeport police.

CABLE TO CHINA

Officials of Commercial Cable Company Assure President of Its Completion Within a Year.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Clarence W. Mackay, president of the Commercial Cable company; George G. Ward, vice president, and William W. Cook, general counsel for the company, had an interview today with the attorney general with respect to the conditions prescribed by President Roosevelt for constructing a trans-Pacific cable. These conditions were approved by the president in July last, since which time the Pacific Cable company has not officially notified the government as to its intentions or willingness to accept them. Yesterday, however, Mr. Mackay explained to the attorney general that the delay was caused by protracted negotiations which have only been brought to a conclusion within the last few days, to secure a landing place in China to comply with the President's condition that an independent American line should be constructed from Manila to Hong Kong, thus giving an all-American through line to the Asiatic continent. It was this condition that was supposed to be the one that the cable company would be unwilling or unable to comply with. It now announces its ability and intention to construct a line from Manila to Shanghai a distance of about 1,200 miles, and to have the same completed within a year.

JOHN R. McLEAN

Has Serious Accident with Auto--Machine Destroyed.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Arthur McArthur Washburn, of Ohio guest here of John R. McLean, the famous Ohio editor, left the McLean home "friendship" on the Tennallstown road at 8 o'clock last evening for a short spin in Mr. McLean's $1900 auto. About a mile out the machine became unmanageable, slipped into a rut and turned turtle. Mr. Washburn barely escaped being crushed beneath the vehicle. The batteries were jarred out of place and the strong electric current set fire to the frame work of the machine, which was destroyed. Mr. McLean took his loss philosophically.

MRS. NATION AT HARVARD.

Temperance Advocate's Lively Reception by the Students.

Carrie Nation invaded Harvard Memorial hall, at Cambridge, the other day while the students were at dinner, says a Boston dispatch to the New York Herald. The reformer appeared in the visitors' gallery after having snatched cigarettes from the mouths of students on her way in. From the gallery she made her address.

"My dear boys," she said, lifting her Bible aloft, "the saloon is your bitterest enemy. Why do you know that 360,000 young men like you are in their graves today because of the saloon?"

The hall echoed with cries of "Oh! Too bad, too bad!"

The students pounded on the tables and their plates with their knives and forks.

"My friends," continued Mrs. Nation, "I am just like any other woman. There were cries and groans of 'No! No! No!' and 'Shut off on that score!'"

Mrs. Nation took a diplomatic tack. "They tell me that I ought to go to Europe. They say that they will introduce me to royalty. But I do not have to go to Europe to see royalty. I have it before me now."

Screams of "That's right, Carrie!" followed. "My dear boys," she repeated, "if you want to see the fairest jewels in all the world look in your own looking glasses." Napkins, bread, plates, knives and forks by the hundred were thrown into the air. The hall rumbled and roared until Mrs. Nation made her retreat.

IMPROVING ELLIS ISLAND.

New Island to Be Built in New York Harbor For a Hospital.

A new island is to be built in New York harbor between Ellis island and Bedloe's island, says a Washington dispatch to the New York Tribune. It is to be used for the erection of a hospital for the care of immigrants suffering from contagious disease. This is one of the improvements recommended by Supervising Architect Taylor, who has been at Ellis island making an investigation of the needs for additional accommodations for the United States immigrant station.

He has recommended that the main buildings be enlarged at a cost of approximately $300,000, that the existing hospital be enlarged at a cost of about $100,000 and that an island of several acres be built up and a hospital erected on it at a cost of about $250,000. His recommendations have been approved by Assistant Secretary Taylor, and he has been directed to prepare plans and estimates for the work.

WOMAN TRAVELER'S PLUCK

Journeyed Through African Wilds Accompanied Only by Servants.

On board the steamship Ivernia, from Liverpool, which recently arrived at Boston, was Mrs. Emma Shaw Coleclough, just returned from a trip to Uganda, in British East Africa. She had also visited Somaliland and during her trip had crossed Lake Victoria. On her return she visited Madagascar and then the Seychelles islands, where the African kings are exiled.

Mrs. Coleclough has traveled alone into the African wilds, accompanied only by native servants, says the Philadelphia Press. But she made her progress possible and much easier by being armed with letters of introduction and helped by the admiration of her pluck, which was shown by some of those with whom she came in contact, for on one occasion an official said to another:

"I'll be dashed if I don't like her pluck, and I'll help her anyway."

A HORSE SHOW STUDY

Vereschagin's Word Picture of New York's Equine Display.

WHOLE EXHIBIT VERY BEAUTIFUL

Russia's Great Painter Glad That He Saw It—He Deems the Judges Good and American Women Charming to Wear Their Most Becoming Gowns—Some Points on Russian Stalls.

Vassili Vereschagin, Russia's great painter, has written for the New York American the following description of the national horse show held in New York. He says:

It was beautiful. The horses were play horses, horses for show. In this respect they were excellent.

The women in the boxes and on the walls around the circus were charming. I am sure that they did not wear more diamonds at the coronation. They do well to ornament themselves for the horse show as well as for the consecration of a sovereign.

Horses are worthy of worship. In my country they are free. They do not wear shields on their eyes. My people think that the eyes of horses are magnificent and that it is not well to hide them. In the stalls of the horse show why are the animals covered with blankets? The stalls are warm enough, it seemed to me. The stable boys—they are not in blankets—told me that the covering was to guard against drafts.

I think that Russian horses are not afraid of drafts. I saw in the stalls that the horses' ankles, too, were wrapped with woolen stuff. I asked the stable boys why this was done. They said, "To keep them in form."

It is the Chinese fashion of compressing the feet, which it is well to criticize as cruel. I did not like, either, the way of riding of one of the judges. He was very diligent, he was very patient. It was good of him to ride the horses to be sure of their action. But his feet stuck out at an angle with the horse. He ought to see our Cossacks ride.

The show was beautiful. I do not wish to appear not to have admired it. But could those horses gallop for fifty miles without water to drink or a moment to take breath? Our Turcomans who have always stolen the wives and daughters of the Persians, need horses that gallop for fifty miles at a stretch. They could not use the horses that I have seen at the show. We have splendid horses in Russia.

In our stables a man owns 5,000 to 8,000 of them. They are free; they are not in stalls. They do not use blankets or garters. They are free. The master will not sell one to you, not one. He might give one to you, but to sell would be a shame. General Surakoff, the head of the Russian cavalry, and I often quarrel about horses. He wants them to be big. I want them to be small. It is folly, I think, to imagine that a big soldier is abler than a small one.

The Turcoman's horse is big, but not good looking. He looks like an ass when he is at rest. But when he gallops he is an arrow shot from a bow. The Kirghiz horse is small and runs not so fast. The Polish horse is half Arab. They cannot stand against a rough winter. The Kasach horse, the Kurd horse that is accustomed to carry robbers, are swift as greyhounds. You ought to see them cut the air.

The state stables, with their Orloff trotters, are excellent, of course. I do not have to praise them. But I want to tell you what happened in Moscow last year. We had races there, as usual. You do not know a race in the world as proud of its horses as the Muscovite. Well, last year the Muscovite horses in a race were beaten by what do you think? By an American horse.

Oh, it was a great shame, and the ladies blushed, and the men were pale. I see now that they were right to be ashamed, that they could not be ashamed enough. But the horse show was very beautiful. I am glad that I saw it. The judges decided as I thought they ought to decide in every case. They are good judges. And American women are charming to wear their most becoming gowns and to be so beautiful at the horse show.

Two Wrights Make a Wrong.

A touch of humor lightens up the rather serious news that the secretary of the interior has just received from Governor Dole of Hawaii, says a Washington dispatch to the New York Tribune. Two officials of that territory, William H. Wright, treasurer of the territory, and R. H. Wright, chief clerk to the treasurer, have gone back on their names and have been discovered in a series of defalcations that amount to about $25,000. One has escaped to San Francisco and the other is under arrest. A wag in the interior department has made a reputation for himself by the following comment on the incident: "Two Wrights have made a wrong, and now, since two wrongs do not make a right, the two Wrights, who have taken what was not theirs by rights, will have to take what is theirs by rights."

Possibilities of the Trolley.

The ramifications of the trolley systems of the United States are a source of never ending wonder, says the Chicago Record-Herald. Routes fifty and seventy-five miles long from the different large cities are common. So rapid has been the growth of the trolley throughout the New England and middle states that within five years it is predicted, one will be able to travel from Augusta, Me., to Chicago and even much farther west. The network of lines comprising this system will represent 7,500 miles.

SOOTHING SHOPPING.

A Peaceful Experience at the East Norley General Emporium.

The exhausted shopper sank upon the sofa, while from the open mouth of her reversed Boston bag poured a cascade of little parcels, freshly struggled for at the Monday bargain counters.

"Oh," she cried, "why does one have to shop in the city? Everything is so hurried, confused, complex, distracting and nerve destroying! If I were only back at East Norley!"

"Last summer when I was there I had to buy a yard of dark blue ribbon, and I drove over to the one store at the crossroads to get it. It took some five minutes to convince the amiable proprietor that I really wanted dark blue and could not be persuaded to accept light instead, which he considered more suitable and becoming to a fair complexioned person of my years; he added reassuringly that anybody under forty was not too young for baby blue."

"Another five minutes were given up to his incredulous reluctance to believe that two inches wide would not do as well as three, especially as the three-inch width had been mislaid on a top shelf and he would have to get a step-ladder to get it down. Several more minutes passed in the search for the ladder, its laborious portage from the cellar, its erection and repair with a piece of twine, the braces being broken, and his final ascent to the dim and dusty upper region, whence the box of wide ribbons was at length produced."

"I found a shade that would do, and he leisurely measured off a yard, fingered it, then paused to rub a perplexed ear and smile ingratiatingly."

"Fact is," he confided sweetly, "I sold the last pair of scissors in the store just before you came in, and I've forgotten my jackknife. It's kind of awkward cutting it off, but I'll manage somehow. I guess there's an ax in the shed."

"He carried the sliken roll away with him as he started with comfortable deliberation to find the ax, which, though the hunt for it was long and persevering, evidently could not be found, for we caught a glimpse of him at last through the half open door to the back shop severing the required yard of ribbon with an old chisel."

"It was all so serene, so soothing and so satisfactory! I believe I shouldn't be a wreck before New Year's eve if I could only do my Christmas shopping at the East Norley general emporium."—Youth's Companion.

occupied with bundles or umbrellas, an audience largely composed of women or an audience in a cold room. The easiest audiences to address, the most responsive and inspiring, are those composed of men crowded and packed together and warm.

Women naturally do not applaud or cheer. They are by instinct more self restrained in the public expression of their emotions than men. Every public speaker is complimented by their presence, knowing that their quiet word at home is oftentimes more effective in results than the most enthusiastic shouting on the street corners by the other sex. In a public meeting, however, the audience gets its cue from those nearest the speaker. I remember well two audiences, both from the same social class, both crowded, both in large theaters and both largely attended by women. One happened to be in Colorado, one in Massachusetts. In one meeting the orchestra was reserved for women. In the other meeting the men had the orchestra and the women had the lower gallery and all the boxes. In both cases the audiences were entirely friendly to the speakers.

The second meeting was marked by wild enthusiasm, the first one by respectful attention. In the second case the mass of men in the orchestra urged on the speakers by continued applause. In the first case the men in the galleries who started to applaud were checked because between them and the speakers was a mass of absolutely silent femininity in the orchestra. I do not say that one meeting was less effective than the other, but the difference in the strain on the speaker was marked.—From "The Spellbinder," by Colonel Curtis Guild, Jr., in Scribner's.

White House Trees to Be Saved.

The general idea that everything connected with the White House should be preserved is well exemplified by the unusual efforts that are being made to save two large magnolia trees that stand on opposite sides of the east entrance, says a Washington dispatch to the New York Tribune. These trees are over fifty feet high and are probably half a century old. The excavation for the driveway to the porte cochere on the east side of the White House, one of the changes incident to the renovation of the executive mansion, necessitates the moving of these trees. While the ground beneath the roots of the trees is being undermined as much earth as is possible is being left around the main body of the trees. When the undermining is finished, planks and rollers will be placed under the trees, and they will be rolled to new spots and replanted. Every effort is being made to save the trees, and it is expected that they will survive the change of base.

Yale Students Must Swim.

The Yale faculty has decided that every student ought to be able to swim and has introduced swimming as a part of the compulsory gymnastic course of the freshman year.

The Horse Hyperbole.

"To horse, to horse!" the public cried. And the smart set said: "We'll go. We'll prove there's something else beside the horse can make a show. We've cured our feelings long enough. We'll check them now no more. Though 'tis the twentieth century, Our century is four."

"We'll go in teams, in fours, in pairs. In furlongs and fribles. Forgetting maxims, for a who cares. It's the pace that kills." We'll say that we prefer the steed To any kind of wheels. They, ride away contentwise On our automobiles.

FOOT BALL .AND. OTHER SPORTS.

Saturday's Football Games.

Ohio State vs. O. W. U. at Delaware.
Ohio Medics vs. Kenyon at Columbus.
Case vs. Heidelberg at Cleveland.
Yale vs. Harvard at New Haven.
Michigan vs. Oberlin at Ann Arbor.
Illinois vs. Northwestern at Chicago.

Wesleyan Protests McLaren.

The Ohio State university athletic board has received a protest from Ohio Wesleyan university football authorities against the playing of Halfback McLaren in the game at Delaware next Saturday. The charge is made that while a student at Ohio university McLaren received pay for his athletic services as a member of the team, and he is accordingly a professional.

The complaint is accompanied by an affidavit signed by a man named Moore, a Marietta man, who states that he is confident McLaren is a professional. No evidence is given and the protest is based entirely upon this general affidavit.

The members of the athletic board at the State university are not inclined to place a great deal of dependence in the affidavit. It is considered unlikely that the finances of Ohio university athletics were ever so flourishing as to permit of a player being paid. Besides the board has in its possession a statement signed by McLaren, which states that he is eligible to play under the athletic rules of O. S. U.

The feeling at the Ohio State university that the present action is only the result of a determination to "do dirt" to McLaren. The matter is in the hands of Professor Thomas, faculty member of the board, and it is almost certain that unless some special evidence is presented the crack halfback will enter the game.

State Expects to Beat Wesleyan.

A feeling of confidence prevades the Ohio State football team concerning the result of the game with Ohio Wesleyan at Delaware Saturday, and 800 students are expected to attend the game, and they are making preparations to paint Delaware a rich crimson hue if their team wins, of which result they do not appear to have any doubt.

Glass Proves Eligibility.

Yale's football advisers some time ago learned that Harvard was looking up Glass' record, and Yale sent ex-Captain Hinkey to Syracuse, who spent a week looking up Glass' history. He found that Glass, in the year before he entered Yale, played on the Syracuse Athletic club's team.

This team was hired to go to Watertown N. Y., to play on Thanksgiving day in 1900. Glass' father and mother refused to allow him to accompany the team. The team put on a "sub" who played under Glass' name on the score card. Yale now has fourteen affidavits that Glass did not play on the team on the day in question, and did not receive any money earned by the team.

These affidavits came from the players on the team, the managers of the team, the "sub" who played under his name, and from Glass' father and mother, who have sworn that he was at home in Syracuse all through the day in question. Yale has prepared this evidence to meet any emergency.

Concede Championship to Medics.

The "Cleveland Plain Dealer" concedes that the Ohio Medics are champions of Ohio in the following:

"While Case is admittedly the champion of Ohio's 'Big Six,' it must be conceded, that the Ohio Medics are the champions of the state, having defeated every team it has played this year with the exception of Notre Dame which won by the score of 6 to 5. Among the teams defeated by the Medics are Case, which was downed by a score of 15 to 0, and the Shelby A. C. which has claimed the athletic club championship of the state for two seasons. That the Medics however, are the strongest today is open to question, as when Case played the Medics the former had had the benefit of only three weeks' coaching by Joe Wentworth. It was also before Green, the greatest nairback in the state, had been developed. In discussing the merits of these two teams Coach Wentworth said yesterday: 'While it will no no real good to say so, I am fully of the opinion that had the Medics been our opponents last Saturday we would have won, while perhaps not so easily as we did from Wesleyan.'

Will Play at Ann Arbor.

Ann Arbor, Nov. 21—At 11 o'clock Thursday night the Michigan university athletic board of control decided to play the Michigan-Minnesota football game on Thanksgiving Day at Ann Arbor instead of at Detroit.

The reasons given for holding to Ann Arbor in spite of protests from Detroit and Minneapolis are greater convenience and better accommodation for a crowd of 15,000 people, a better gridiron and utter impracticability of the Detroit field.

Harvard Off for New Haven.

Cambridge, Nov. 21—The finishing touches were given to the Harvard 'varsity eleven's practice on Soldiers' field Thursday and the undergraduate body marched to the field and cheered the members of the team and Head Coach Farley. The work for the men was not hard, but it called for speed. The team had signal practice and Carl Marshall was given the opportunity to try drop kicking for goals.

The team left Harvard square at 8:45 this morning. The men taken C. A. Barnard, E. Bowditch, R. M. Blaikie, J. D. Clark, W. J. Clothier, R. Coburn, L. J. Daly, H. C. Force, T. H. Grandon, W. T. Harrison, E. C. Hovey, E. J. Hurley, J. D. Jones, R. P. Kernan (captain), J. A. Knowles, D. N. Knowlton, R. D. Leatherbee, C. A. Lyon, W. C. Mathews, H. K. Mason, T. G. Meier, T. O. Mills, J. L. Motley, A. Marshall, C. B. Marshall, F. H. Noyes, E. Levison, E. D. Putman, E. A. Shea, W. S. Sugden, A. Stillman, W. S. Whitwell, S. Wilder and C. F. Wright.

Yale Confident of Victory.

New Haven, Nov. 21—The substitutes of the Yale football eleven were permitted to break training Thursday night with a big dinner at their training table. The keynote of the banquet was confidence that the Yale team will win the game. The same feeling was noticeable on the campus tonight and on the field earlier in the day. Nearly 1000 students marched to the field, led by the Old Guard band, and cheered themselves hoarse.

The spectators did not see much playing by the 'varsity regulars, for they were not required to do hard work nor any scrimmaging. They were sent up and down the length of the field several times in signal practice and under Bowman's and Vandervoort's punts. Later the halfbacks were given catching practice.

Game at Granville Cancelled.

The football game to have been played at Granville between Denison and Ohio University, of Athens, has been cancelled. The second team of Denison will however, play the Lancaster High School team on Beaver Field, Granville, and a close and exciting game is looked for.

MASONIC—There will be a meeting of Newark Lodge No. 97, F. & A. M., this evening for work in the M. M. degree.

The SPORTING WORLD

Schaeffer's Retirement.

The retirement of E. Carroll Schaeffer, the holder of all American amateur swimming records from twenty yards to one mile, removes from the aquatic world one of the most remarkable athletes which this country has produced in the last decade. Schaeffer's withdrawal is all the more to be regretted because all those who know his capabilities realize that he had by no means reached his limit.

From the time he took up swimming Schaeffer has been invincible and has never met his match in America. That the University of Pennsylvania crack does not now hold world records instead of American records is due to the fact that he never had an opportunity to meet any of the English or French champions and no American swimmer has been able to push him to the limit.

The following is the complete list of the swimming records which Schaeffer holds: Twenty yards, straightaway, 10 2/5 seconds; 40 yards, bath, one turn, 23 4/5 seconds; 50 yards, bath, swimming on back, one turn, 36 1/5 seconds; 60 yards, bath, two turns, 36 1/5 seconds; 80 yards, bath, three turns, 50 4/5 seconds; 100 yards, straightaway, across tidal salt water, 1m. 5 3/8s.; 110 yards, bath, six turns, 1m. 17s.; 120 yards, bath, five turns, 1m. 51 3/8s.; 200 yards, bath, nine turns, 2m. 30 2/8s.; 220 yards, open, still water, straightaway, 2m. 50 4/8s.; 300 yards, bath, eleven turns, 4m. 25s.; 400 yards, open water, one turn, 6m. 26s.; 500 yards, bath, twenty-four turns, 6m. 51 3/8s.; 880 yards, 13m. 37 2/8s.; 900 yards, 15m. 45 3/8s.; 1,100 yards, 17m. 32s.; 1,210 yards, 19m. 19s.; 1,320 yards, 21m. 11s.; 1,430 yards, 22m. 58 2/8s.; 1,540 yards, 24m. 49 4/8s.; 1,650 yards, 26m. 34 3/8s.; one mile, 28m. 14 3/8s.

American Henley Plans.

The plan for the American Henley is to organize an invitation association, consisting of the Boston A. A., the Union Boat club of Boston and the Philadelphia Barge club, the New York A. C., the Weld and Newell Boat clubs of Harvard, the Dunham Boat club of Yale, the University of Pennsylvania, Harvard, Yale, Cornell, Columbia and Wisconsin.

The classes will be many, ranging all the way from single sculls to eight oared crews. The new organization, it is said, will not antagonize the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen or interfere with the different open regattas now given all over the country, but the members will enter these races the same as before and at the same time have a special week together, whether that place be New London or Chicago.

Steinitz on Problems.

Steinitz, the late chess champion, solved a problem. He said: 'The study of this beautiful branch of our science is extremely useful for the purpose of developing and increasing strength in practical play. It is especially the faculty of precision which has to be exercised absolutely in the study of problems, whereas in the game the winning process may be effected in many ways. Yet quite as often it requires the greatest exactitude of calculation to make sure of a plan to be adopted in actual play, and the study of compositions where the utmost power of the forces has to be employed in the fewest number of moves is therefore a splendid training for the purpose.'

Corbett's Condition.

Jim Corbett, who has been promised the next fight with Champion Jeffries, is taking the best of care of himself these days. He is doing light training every day and is in fairly good shape. As the battle between Corbett and Jeffries is slated for San Francisco next May or June, Corbett intends to go to the coast about March or April for the purpose of doing his hardest training at one of the resorts there. The San Francisco Athletic club, of which Corbett's brother Harry is a stockholder, will get the match, as both fighters have promised him that they will fight before his club.

Columbia Rowing.

Columbia university is to take the lead in introducing assistant coaches for college crews. Edward Hanlan thinks he has too much work to do with both the varsity and freshmen crews, and in the future he will take charge of the varsity eight and four and will give the freshmen over to some graduate carman.

Michael's Plans.

Jimmy Michael will return to this country a month earlier than he expected and will be under the management of Floyd McFarland. He will bring two powerful motor racing machines with him and will be prepared to meet all comers for the championship of the world.

Mrs. Chism Ill.

Hebron, O., Nov. 21.—Hebron is to have a bank which will be known as the Hebron Banking company. At the stockholders' meeting J. C. Neal was chosen chairman. The bank will be located in the east room of the "Balthus building" on Main street.

The many friends of Mrs. Dr. Oren Kramer will be glad to learn of her return home from the country, very much improved in health.

The condition of Mrs. Frank Chism, who has been confined to her bed with that dread disease consumption for four months is now quite serious, and her death is momentarily expected.

Our community was greatly shocked over the sudden death of Mr. J. O. Davis, which occurred Tuesday evening. Funeral services were held at Fairmount church today at 11 a. m.

Miss Cordelia Sharer has returned home after a pleasant visit with Granville friends.

S. H. Rosebrough has put in a fine line of furniture in his new store room.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Siegler and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. McCoy, Josepa Hutzell and Robert Briddleman all of Columbus, were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hutzell. The gentlemen were good sportsmen and put the time in hunting quail.

Wm. Koch and wife who recently moved their household goods here, have gone on an extended trip to Cedar Rapids, Iowa. On their return they will occupy the new house of Milton Kelsey on Berry street, which will be completed about December 1. Benton Frisoe of Newark is here working on the dwelling of Mrs. Mary LeCrone on Second street.

Mr. Thacker of Newark called at D. P. Burch's, Sunday.

Mr. Charles Strawn is able to be out again, after being laid up for a week, the result of a runaway. While driving along the Newark road about a mile north of town, one side of the shaft became detached from the buggy, dropping to the horse's heels. Unfortunately, just at that critical time the electric car, coming up behind, frightened the horse, which started on a run, jerking the buggy from one side of the road to the other, finally upsetting when the horse got free, thus preventing what might have been a more serious accident. His little son, John, who was with him, fortunately was not hurt, dragged his father from the wreck in an unconscious condition. Mr. Strawn received several painful injuries about the head, shoulders and back, but he is now getting along nicely under the treatment of Dr. G. N. Brown.

Fire Breaks Out in Dry Room of South Fourth Street Planing Mill, Scorching Much Lumber.

About 12 o'clock this noon, an alarm of fire called the department to the South Fourth street planing mill which is operated by Mr. Thomas Jones. When the department arrived at the scene it was found that the dry house, which is connected with the mill, was on fire and that the lumber with which it was filled was burning. A stream of water was soon playing on the flames, and in a short time the fire was extinguished. There was stored in the dry house about 12,000 feet of chestnut lumber, belonging to Mr. Ben Jones, of which about 4,000 feet was badly scorched. It is supposed that the gas in the furnace of the dry house became so strong that the house was overheated, causing the lumber to take fire.

A Chicago man on his summer vacation went to a Wisconsin lake resort and one day became engaged in conversation with the proprietor. He commented on the attractiveness of the surroundings and finally asked the hotel keeper how many acres there were in the property. "About forty," replied the proprietor. "I see there is another resort a short distance north of you. Who owns that?" "The Wilber Simmon." "You and she John do you not?" The landlord's sunburned face turned a shade or two redder. "We're expecting to next October," he said, "but I didn't think anybody'd found it out yet."

NOTES FROM THE BIG LICKING COUNTY FIELD.

Coshocton Pipe Line to be Pushed by a Big Force of Men—New Franchises for Gas.

Word was received by the Utica Gas Oil & Mining company, says the Utica Herald, that the contract for the construction of the pipe line from the Utica company wells to Coshocton had been signed with Contractor Mowry, and work has since been commenced. The contractor agrees to get the line ready for service by January 1st, and to do so he says that he will put 400 to 500 men on the job with steam trenchers ahead of them. About 14 miles of pipe will be hauled from Utica and the remainder from Tunnel Hill and other points in Coshocton county.

The Knox county company, composed of Waight and others with the "big" well to back them, were granted a franchise in Fredericktown. The rate is to be 20 cents by meter, no flat rate specified, and a year is allowed for getting service in.

The Logan company has signed one contract with Stratton & Son for the drilling of ten more wells yet this season. Other contractors are also drilling for them.

The Glen Walace well is down about 1600 feet and the tools got stuck Tuesday and had not been rescued yet last evening.

Mayor Estell and Councilmen Miller, Marchant and Stummell of Millersburg, headed by Mr. Sapp of the Buckeye-Utica gas company and Mr. Berry of the Knox county company, were in Utica Thursday investigating the wells. Both companies applied for franchises in Millersburg, and the gentlemen named wished to prepare a case for voting intelligently by examining the sources of supply and the prospect for speedy piping to the city after a franchise is granted.

They drove first to the Hunter well which is the only one the Knox county company has yet drilled and heard it "blown off" and then came to Utica and listened to the blowing of our home company wells. The amount of leased territory each company has was also noted as well as the fact that the Buckeye-Utica people had 13 car loads of six inch pipe here ready for starting their line at once.

The Knox county company filed a suit to condemn land for a pipe line across premises of Lucinda Stull, Lucinda Babbs, and Catherine Smith, 54 rods, but afterward withdrew it and reported an agreement made as to compensation. The company averred that it expects to construct a 6-inch line to Mt. Vernon where it has contracted to furnish gas to certain persons and corporations. This company has contracts with the various factories of the city, at 7 cents per thousand. The contract for building the pipe line has been let to Jones Bros of Mt. Vernon.

The Logan company is pushing its well down three rods from the big Hunter well and has also located a well just across the road about 30 rods in the opposite direction from the Hunter. The chances are that it will be drawing gas from the territory even before the owners of the Hunter well get a line laid. That's the misfortune of the Knox County company having but five acres in the lease.

The Forbing company, which is sinking a test well on the Culp farm six miles northeast of Utica has changed its name to Morgan-Clay Gas Company, from the names of the two townships in which its leases lie. The Culp well is down about 2,900 feet and ought to find the sand in a few days.

The Knox County company was granted a franchise at Wooster a few days ago.

DEATH

CAME TO JUDGE JEROME BUCKINGHAM THURSDAY NIGHT

Was President of First National Bank Ex-Common Pleas Judge and Distinguished Citizen.

Judge Jerome Buckingham died at 5:45 o'clock Thursday evening at his home on Hudson avenue, after a long illness with bladder and kidney trouble, at the age of 82 years.

The funeral take place from the late home Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Judge Jerome Buckingham was born in Tuckahannock, Luzerne county, Pennsylvania, June 10th, 1820. His father, John Buckingham, was a native of Connecticut, and his mother a Pennsylvania German. In his early childhood his parents moved to Norwalk, Ohio, where he attended the common schools and in the fall of 1837 he entered Kenyon College at Gambier, Ohio, where he remained for two years. In 1839 he entered the Western Reserve College at Hudson, Ohio, from which he graduated in 1841. In the fall of the same year he began the study of law with Goddard and Converse, at Zanesville, Ohio. In 1843 he entered the law school of Harvard University at Cambridge, Mass., from which he graduated in 1844. He was admitted to the bar in the fall of that year by the Supreme Court at Cleveland, Ohio, and the same year settled in Newark, Ohio, and began the practice of law, forming a partnership with Joshua Mathiot, who then had an extensive practice in this and adjoining counties.

Judge Buckingham continued in the active practice of his profession, with but a short intermission, from 1844 to 1888, when he was elected Common Pleas Judge, a period of 44 years, or almost half a century. He formed law partnerships with L. P. Coman, James White, Judge Kibler and J. R. Davies during this period.

In October, 1868, he was appointed Judge of the Common Pleas court of this district, by ex-President Hayes, who was then Governor of Ohio, to fill the unexpired term of Judge Brumback, who had resigned.

He was President of the First National Bank of Newark, Ohio, since its organization. He was a delegate to the National Republican Convention which nominated Garfield for President.

He was one of the first Trustees of the Children's Home in this county. In 1888 he was elected Common Pleas Judge of this Judicial District and served five years. At the expiration of his term as Judge, he retired from the active practice of law.

He was always courteous and dignified, a fine scholar, an able lawyer and Judge. He had, during his career as a lawyer, an extensive practice of the highest order, and enjoyed the confidence and respect of the public in a marked degree, and was faithful to every trust reposed in him.

June, 8th, 1848, he was married to Anne Brice, daughter of Dr. Benjamin Brice, who died April 15th, 1849. September 15th, 1853, he was married to Harriett A. Thompson, daughter of Dr. Robert Thompson of Columbus, Ohio, who still survives him. By this marriage there were seven children: Anne, who married Henry O. Norris; Harriett, Elizabeth, wife of Walter P. Ferguson, Sarah, Margaret, John and Mary. Of these, Harriett, John and Mrs. Norris have passed away.

Judge Buckingham was a student of nature, and loved the woods, the streams and the hills. He was a man of the most exemplary habits, domestic in his tastes, and exceedingly fond of his home and his family, and no husband and father will be more missed than he. He was a faithful friend, an upright citizen, and his loss will be deeply felt in this community.

STRUCK OIL.

Granville, O., Nov. 21.—The drillers who have been engaged at work drilling in the well on the Sinner farm, north of this place struck a pocket of oil at a depth of 600 feet on Thursday night, and for a time there was considerable excitement in the vicinity. At first the flow of oil was quite strong but the flow gradually became weaker and weaker. The drillers will continue the work of drilling, and they say the prospects are excellent for a good strike.

Facts about Medicine.

"If your Vinol is such wonderful stuff, what's the need of harping about it so much in the paper? There are twenty medicines advertised in every sheet, and I don't believe what they say about any of them." Such was a remark heard in the store.

We answer: We advertise Vinol because we have found it a good thing for cough, lung troubles, insomnia, weak women and children, old people and run-down folks.

We advertise Vinol under our own name, and with our own guarantee because it is different from the twenty medicines our friend alluded to. For instance, it is not a secret preparation. It is endorsed by physicians. It has a surprising record of cures right here in town. It has our absolute guarantee of money back if you are not helped.

We advertise Vinol to increase its usefulness. It's pleasant to take.

Case of Bolton vs. City of Zanesville
On Trial—Real Estate Transfers
—Other Court Items.

In the case of John L. Hall vs. Albert Wells, an action to recover damages for slander, the jurors Thursday evening returned a verdict for plaintiff, assessing his damages at one cent. Kibler & Kibler, Hunter.

The case of Frank A. Bolton, executor of Michael Bolton, deceased, vs. The City of Newark, is on trial to the Court and jury today. The action was commenced in 1895 before Justice of the Peace David H. Pigg.

The law suit grows out of an injury which occurred in 1895, on Granville street this city, in which a team of horses attached to a hack, belonging to the plaintiff, was being driven at night on Granville street; the horses were thrown into a ditch which had been constructed across a portion of the street, resulting in injury to the horses, harness and hack. The ditch had been dug by the Water Works company for the purpose of laying a water service main. Plaintiff asks damages for the injuries resulting from the accident. B. G. Smythe, Frank A. Bolton, for plaintiff; T. B. Fulton for defendant.

David E. Stephen vs. Miles O. Weekley, motion to strike transcript taken from docket of Justice of the Peace, from the files, sustained. Exceptions. Smythe & Smythe; Daugherty.

Mr. Updike anticipated a drop in the cattle market and "let go" at the right time. The forty head which went Friday averaged within a few pounds of 1400, a gain of 400 per head since spring. The remaining 35 head are fully as heavy and the two bunches together certainly made as fine a lot of cattle as has ever been seen in this section. Although the purchase price has not been made public it is probable that the aggregate will be in the neighborhood of $6,000.—Centerburg Gazette.

HOW TO REACH THE POLE.

Explorer Peary Tells How He Thinks It Is to Be Done.

Commander Robert E. Peary addressed the American Geological society the other night in Mendelssohn hall in New York on "The Field Work of the Peary Arctic Club, 1898-1902." In spite of the great difficulties of the undertaking and of his own failure to reach the object of his search, Mr. Peary stated confidently that the north pole can yet be reached. He said:

"The head of Smith sound is the central point from which to close this work. This is the point from which can be reached and determined that stretch of still unknown coast on the eastern coast of Greenland reaching from Cape Bismarck to Cape Parish, the point from which can be reached and determined the interior ramifications of the great ford systems of northern Greenland; the point from which can be reached and determined the gap in the coast line between Aldrich's farthest and Sverdrup's farthest, on the west coast of Grinnell Land; the point from which the stretch of practically unknown land along the eastern side of Kennedy channel can be reached, and the point from which the pole itself can and will be reached.

"It may seem to indicate overconfidence to state boldly that the pole can be reached, and yet it is a fact, even though the struggle for it has been going on unsuccessfully for years and years. Each time we have learned a little more, and I say to you here tonight that it is not an impossibility; that it can be done."

LONDON'S HINDOO TEMPLE.

Educated Natives of Bengal Raising a Fund to Build One.

A number of educated natives of Bengal are forming a fund to provide a Hindoo temple in London, writes a foreign correspondent of the New York Times. There are very few of the great religions of the world which have not places of worship in or near London, but Hindooism is one of them, and the need for such a building is regarded in India as a pressing one.

The number of young Hindoos who go to London for study and other purposes grows greater every year, and they are at present unable to perform the public rites of their religion. It is hoped, moreover, that the existence of a temple in London will remove the objections of the more orthodox Hindoos to visiting that country. The great caste question at present stands in their way. Some of the very strict Hindoos are arguing that a temple on English soil cannot possess the sanctity of one in India. Nevertheless there is said to be no doubt that the fund will be raised and that a handsome building will be erected.

KING COAL IN SOCIETY.

Anthracite Article Used For Decoration at Luncheon.

A singularly successful function recently given that has the charm of both novelty and timeliness was a hard coal luncheon, says the St. Louis Republic. The guests were received in a room where hard coal burned in the grate. In the luncheon room there was also a small open fire. The centerpiece was an ingenious adaptation of an Italian brazier, where a few hard coals smoldered throughout the repast. At each plate were favors of round packages of coal in ribbon tied bouillon boxes.

In the afternoon the guests were entertained by the inspection of a cabinet filled with unusually fine specimens of hard coal, each lump being labeled with the name of the mine whence it came and the approximate date of the specimen's discovery.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Larason were in attendance at the funeral of the late James O. Davis, which took place from Fairmount church at 11:30 o'clock this morning.

FRANCHISE

Will be Granted Interurban Road in Zanesville, According to a Committee Member.

Zanesville, Nov. 21.—A meeting of the railroad committee and the special committee of city council, was held Wednesday afternoon in the city clerk's office, for the purpose of considering the franchise of the Columbus, Buckeye Lake and Newark Traction company and the laying of a third rail.

The special committee which was appointed by President McWilliams consists of Messrs. Linser, Mueller, Coyle, Geddes and Weisen. Messrs. Browning and Green, representing the inter-urban company met with the committee.

From one of the members of the committee it was learned that every phase of the ordinance granting the franchise was thoroughly discussed and given due deliberation by the committee. It is his belief that the committee will report favorably to council on the granting of the franchise and that council will act in accordance with this report.

"There will be some changes in the ordinance in matters of details," said the committee member, "but these will be of such minor importance that it will not affect the company's or the city's interests." We are desirous of having an inter-urban, knowing its great value to the business men and citizens in general.

The question of laying a third rail was also discussed and will be favorably reported upon. This would not be necessary if the present city rails were standard gauge, but such not being the case it will be necessary to lay the additional rail unless the gauge of the city line is changed to standard.

AN EASY WAY.

To Keep Well.

It is easy to keep well if we would only observe each day a few simple rules of health.

The all important thing is to keep the stomach right and to do this is not necessary to diet or to follow a set rule or bill of fare. Such pampering simply makes capricious appetite and a feeling that certain favorite articles of food must be avoided.

Prof. Wiechold gives pretty good advice on this subject; he says: "I am 68 years old and have never had a serious illness, and at the same time my life has been largely an indoor one, but I early discovered that the way to keep healthy was to keep a healthy stomach, not by eating brackish or dieting of any sort; on the contrary I always eat what my appetite craves, but daily for the past eight years I have made it a practice to take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal and I attribute my robust health for a man of my age to the regular daily use of Stuart's Tablets."

My physician first advised me to use them because he said they were perfectly harmless and were not a secret patent medicine, but containing only the natural digestives, pepsines and diastase, and after using them a few weeks I have never ceased to thank him for his advice.

I honestly believe the habit of taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals is the real health habit, because their use brings health to the sick and ailing and preserves health to the well and strong."

Men and women past fifty years of age need a safe digestive after meals to insure a perfect digestion and to ward off disease, and the safest, best known and most widely used is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

They are found in every well regulated household from Maine to California and in Great Britain and Australia are rapidly pushing their way into popular favor.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized pkgs. at 50 cents, and for a weak stomach a fifty cent package will do fifty dollars worth of good.

BRAND NEW GAME.

"Vigoro," an Odd Combination of Cricket and Tennis.

Cricket players and tennis players are much interested at present in a new game which is known as "Vigoro." It is an odd combination of cricket and tennis and is meeting with much favor from devotees of both games, says the Philadelphia Press.

The main peculiarity of the game is that it is played entirely with rackets and not with the hand. The ball is never caught or thrown, but is constantly batted. Otherwise it is like cricket, and most of the rules of cricket apply to it. Even the bowling is done by racket, just as balls are served in tennis, and instead of the ordinary cricket wickets there are small nets into which the balls are sent.

The game was invented in America and has for some time been played here quietly without making much of a stir, but as soon as it became more widely known its popularity grew rapidly. Its devotees claim many merits for it. It combines, they say, all of the good points of both games from which it is made, putting life and "go" into cricket and doing away with the violence of tennis. That it is far more exciting than ordinary cricket can be easily seen by any one who is familiar with the two games.

THE NEW HANDSHAKE.

Latest Society Innovation Introduced at Horse Show Dinner.

The horse show at New York, just opened, is responsible for a new handshake, says the New York News.

The smart set will adopt it, and for a year at least, until there is another such exhibition, it will obtain in the higher circles.

It was first used at the horse show dinner the other day by Berry Wall. It was immediately taken up by others who were there, and when fashion began to assemble in the immense garden it was quickly noticed that the new handshake was in vogue generally.

The arm is held L shaped against the right hand side of the body, where it hangs naturally and gracefully. The fore part is stretched out on a direct line. Hands are then grasped, and the shake takes place in a swaying motion to and fro. In other words, the hand goes to the right and left, not up and down. The swing is from the elbow. There is no wrist movement. No certain number of sways constitute the proper shake. There may be only one; there may be a dozen. It simply depends on the existing feeling between those greeting each other.

WILLS BRAIN TO CORNELL.

Professor Goldwin Smith Will Keep a Promise Made as a Joke.

Professor Goldwin Smith, according to a Toronto special to the New York Times, has willed his brain to Cornell university. Mr. Smith said the other night:

"I have hitherto looked upon this thing as a joke, but now I see it has been taken seriously. I shall certainly keep my promise made to Professor Wilder of Cornell. A short time ago I met this gentleman, who is the professor of physiology, and we got to talking on the subject of brain. He informed me that he made a specialty of brains and was collecting them for his museum. In a joking way I told him he could have mine when I was finished with it. The whole thing was done in a joking way, but now that the matter has been taken seriously I will certainly make arrangements that my promise shall be carried out. I am now in my eightieth year, and the legacy may fall soon."

MAY TAKE A CENTURY.

Philippines Can't Be Civilized in a
Hurry, Says General Chaffee.

General A. R. Chaffee and his aids arrived in Chicago the other day. Vice Governor Luke E. Wright of the Philippines accompanied General Chaffee.

General Chaffee said to a reporter of the New York World: "The Philippines have practically given up expectation of accomplishing anything against the United States by force. What the American people must do now is to hold to their word, and then surely in time the great archipelago will enjoy the blessings of a thoroughly organized and beneficent civilized government."

"One must not think that such an outcome can be reached in forty days. Indeed, 100 years would be more like the proper time."

An Unusual Spectacle.

The cruiser Albany will come to the United States after the Caribbean maneuvers, and then will be presented the unusual spectacle of a United States warship visiting the United States for the first time, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Herald. The Albany is of course manned by a Yankee crew, and she flies the stars and stripes, but she has never touched at an American port. The Albany, which, incidentally, was not her first name, was ordered by the Brazilian government at Elswick, England. About four years ago she was purchased by the United States and christened the Albany. Since that time she has been in many parts of the world, but never in United States waters.

An Anglo-Japanese Alliance Result.

England does not only do good business, politically, but also financially, for many of the new Japanese ships will be built in England, and the great amount of the money advanced will therefore return to English pockets, says Count E. Revellow in the Berlin Tag. The stronger Japan is at sea the better for England, and all the more will Russia be obliged to increase her fleet in the far east.

AMUSEMENTS.

B. E. Forrester and the Messrs.

Mittenthal Bros. have made an elaborate production of Mr. Theodore Kremer's latest melodrama "A Desperate Chance." Mr. Kremer is well known throughout the United States and Canada in connection with a great many successes written by him. "The Fatal Wedding" has placed this young and successful author in a class all by himself.

In "A Desperate Chance," the author has laid his scenes in and around Pittsburgh, taking for his subject the Biddle brothers' escapades.

The story of the piece is full of intense dramatic action which will hold its audience from the rise of the curtain in the first act until the final termination of the fourth and last act of the play.

To those that have followed the history of the Biddles from the time of their arrest in Pittsburgh after their escape from the county jail in that city, their struggle against great odds for life and liberty and their final capture and death, one can see at a glance the great possibilities for dramatic action.

The cast will be an exceptionally strong one, containing names of artists that are well known to the theatre going public and will be seen at the Auditorium tomorrow night.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

It is not generally known that many actors now before the public have other artistic gifts than those displayed by them in the pursuit of their histrionic profession. Mr. Josepa Jefferson is a well known painter in his leisure moments, and Sarah Bernhardt has given to the artistic world examples of her great talent as a sculptor. If anyone should stroll into the exhibitions given each year in London or New York, he could not fail to be attracted by several dainty water color sketches depicting scenes in Algerian life. After enjoying the pictures you will naturally look for the artist's signature, and modestly and unobtrusively on each painting will be noted "Carl Kobrick." Few will connect this name with that of the young actor who is making such a success as "The Imp" in "When We Were 21," which will be seen in this city on Thanksgiving day, November 27, Matinee and night. But such however is the case. The young artist and the young actor are one and the same person proving conclusively that artistic temperament will sometimes find expression even in different channels. Matinee prices, 25, 50 and 75c. Evening, 25, 50, 75 and $1.

SUMMIT STATION.

Summit Station, Nov. 19.—A beautiful home wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Holcomb, Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Their daughter Edna Earl and Frank Strait of Black Lick, O., were united in marriage by the Rev. A. Gilruth of Reynoldsburg. The marriage vow was witnessed by a few of the immediate relatives and friends. The bride was beautifully attired in white mull and carried bride's roses. We extend our congratulations.

A STRATLING REPORT.

One That Speaks Volumes—Tells of a Great Good Done, of a Certain Cure for the Nervous, Weak and Sleepless

Mrs. W. Bates of No. 140 South Sixth street, Newark, Ohio, says:

"Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills I know are excellent because they made my nerves steady, gave me strength and good restful sleep, three things I needed badly. The action was easy and rapid and more than satisfactory, and I am right glad in the face of the fine results I obtained that C. T. Brick of the City Drug Store called my attention to the medicine."

THIS IS TRUE.

The wise outlay of money is in a permanent home. There the family comes together daily after the stress and storm of life as to a refuge. The possession of a home, however humble, gives one a sense of permanency, of vested rights; awakens public spirit and patriotism and arouses emulation. It is a foundation on which to build, a point from which to advance. Every flower enhances the value of the home and endears it to the heart and memory, hallowed by a tender association, endeared by recollection.

Cinder in His Eye.

A cinder in an engineer's eye caused a little smash up on the B. & O. at Plymouth about 5 o'clock Tuesday evening.

Through west bound freight No. 97 and the west bound local both took the siding at Plymouth to allow train 16, due here at 5:40 o'clock p. m. to pass. After the train had passed the siding the engineer on the through freight blew his whistle to go ahead, but did not do so immediately. The engineer of the local, who was at the time busy bandaging his eye in which a cinder had lodged, upon hearing the whistle opened the throttle of his engine without looking at the train. The engine smashed into the caboose of the freight, knocking in into a general merchandise car just in front. Both the caboose and the car were badly

THE RAILWAYS

RUMOR OF SUPT. J. F. IRWIN'S RESIGNATION

The Change in Master Mechanics Office Here—Local and General Railway News.

The Pittsburg Post of yesterday printed a rumor that J. F. Irwin superintendent of the Connellsville division of the B. & O. will soon resign. Mr. Irwin was with the B. & O. in this city for several years and some time ago was Eighth ward councilman here.

Master Mechanic.

Concerning the resignation of Mr. Breneman and the appointment of his successor the Pittsburg Post says: "Announcement was made Wednesday of the appointment of John Dalman, of the mechanical department of the Cleveland, Akron & Columbus (Pennsylvania lines), to the position of master mechanic of the Baltimore & Ohio at Newark. Master Mechanic H. N. Breneman, who until recently held the berth, has accepted service with the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul. Mr. Breneman will again be associated with J. N. Barr, now general superintendent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, and who was formerly general superintendent of motive power on the Baltimore & Ohio. Mr. Dalman will assume supervision at Newark on December 1. The shops at this point rank third in importance Baltimore and Glenwood taking precedence in the order named.

"It has become definitely known Thursday that Superintendent S. P. Hutchinson, of the Pittsburg division after December 1, would sever his relations with the Baltimore & Ohio. He has accepted the position of assistant general superintendent of the Michigan Central railroad, and will have his headquarters in Detroit. Mr. Hutchinson, while naturally pleased over the new field, thus presented, nevertheless, dislikes to leave the service of the Baltimore & Ohio because his relations both with the officials and with the rank and file, have been most pleasant. However, the offer made him by the Michigan Central, all things considered, had to be accepted, because the field for successful action is thereby broadened to such an extent that he could not afford to allow the opportunity to pass unnoticed. On the Baltimore & Ohio Mr. Hutchinson was confined in his operations to the Pittsburg division. On the Michigan Central his work will be in evidence throughout the entire system.

"It was rumored yesterday that Superintendent J. F. Irwin, of the Connellsville division, would shortly resign, probably on or before the first of the coming month. Some speculation was indulged in as to a successor, and many were of the opinion that if an appointment was made it would go to J. J. Driscoll, a trainmaster, with headquarters at Rockwood.

"The appointment of a successor to Mr. Hutchinson is a matter of absorbing interest at the Water street terminal. Two or three persons already in the service of the company are hinted at. None of these, though, care to become publically known in connection with the present changes. It is deemed quite certain that the man selected to succeed to the local division superintendency will be some one well known to the local operating force.

"Owing to the fact that E. T. Horn has re-entered the service of the Baltimore & Ohio with the title of assistant to the general superintendent of the Pittsburg system and because of the resignation of Mr. Hutchinson, the inference has gone around that Mr. Horn was succeeding Mr. Hutchinson to all practical intents and purposes. This is wrong."

The wise outlay of money is in a permanent home. There the family comes together daily after the stress and storm of life as to a refuge. The possession of a home, however humble, gives one a sense of permanency, of vested rights; awakens public spirit and patriotism and arouses emulation. It is a foundation on which to build, a point from which to advance. Every flower enhances the value of the home and endears it to the heart and memory, hallowed by a tender association, endeared by recollection.

THE RAILWAYS

RUMOR OF SUPT. J. F. IRWIN'S RESIGNATION

The Change in Master Mechanics Office Here—Local and General Railway News.

The Pittsburg Post of yesterday printed a rumor that J. F. Irwin superintendent of the Connellsville division of the B. & O. will soon resign. Mr. Irwin was with the B. & O. in this city for several years and some time ago was Eighth ward councilman here.

Master Mechanic.

Concerning the resignation of Mr. Breneman and the appointment of his successor the Pittsburg Post says: "Announcement was made Wednesday of the appointment of John Dalman, of the mechanical department of the Cleveland, Akron & Columbus (Pennsylvania lines), to the position of master mechanic of the Baltimore & Ohio at Newark. Master Mechanic H. N. Breneman, who until recently held the berth, has accepted service with the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul. Mr. Breneman will again be associated with J. N. Barr, now general superintendent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, and who was formerly general superintendent of motive power on the Baltimore & Ohio. Mr. Dalman will assume supervision at Newark on December 1. The shops at this point rank third in importance Baltimore and Glenwood taking precedence in the order named.

"It has become definitely known Thursday that Superintendent S. P. Hutchinson, of the Pittsburg division after December 1, would sever his relations with the Baltimore & Ohio. He has accepted the position of assistant general superintendent of the Michigan Central railroad, and will have his headquarters in Detroit. Mr. Hutchinson, while naturally pleased over the new field, thus presented, nevertheless, dislikes to leave the service of the Baltimore & Ohio because his relations both with the officials and with the rank and file, have been most pleasant. However, the offer made him by the Michigan Central, all things considered, had to be accepted, because the field for successful action is thereby broadened to such an extent that he could not afford to allow the opportunity to pass unnoticed. On the Baltimore & Ohio Mr. Hutchinson was confined in his operations to the Pittsburg division. On the Michigan Central his work will be in evidence throughout the entire system.

"It was rumored yesterday that Superintendent J. F. Irwin, of the Connellsville division, would shortly resign, probably on or before the first of the coming month. Some speculation was indulged in as to a successor, and many were of the opinion that if an appointment was made it would go to J. J. Driscoll, a trainmaster, with headquarters at Rockwood.

"The appointment of a successor to Mr. Hutchinson is a matter of absorbing interest at the Water street terminal. Two or three persons already in the service of the company are hinted at. None of these, though, care to become publically known in connection with the present changes. It is deemed quite certain that the man selected to succeed to the local division superintendency will be some one well known to the local operating force.

"Owing to the fact that E. T. Horn has re-entered the service of the Baltimore & Ohio with the title of assistant to the general superintendent of the Pittsburg system and because of the resignation of Mr. Hutchinson, the inference has gone around that Mr. Horn was succeeding Mr. Hutchinson to all practical intents and purposes. This is wrong."

WU'S FAREWELL VIEWS

Former Chinese Minister's Impressions of United States.

HE SAYS WE ARE ALL HUSTLERS.

Personal Diplomat Most Impressed by Activity of Americans and Generosity of Rich Men—Our Literature Considered All Right, but So Young Compared With China's—Some Chinese Jokes.

Some of Wu Ting Fang's ideas of the United States are embodied in the following farewell interview with a Washington correspondent of the New York World.

The former Chinese minister crossed one leg over the other under his lavender skirt. Then he interlocked his fingers and repeated the question, "What has most impressed me during my six years in the United States?"

"Two things," he said—"the activity of your people and the good the rich men do with their money."

"I suppose every foreigner is impressed with the restless energy of the Americans. It is so different from the quieter, or shall I say more composed, habits of the people of other countries. Everybody seems to be full of life, to rush about as if the fate of the universe depended on his individual efforts. You are all hustlers." He smiled a little when he used that word. "You see, I know the idiom. It is this energy, this activity, that accomplishes the results that have made you the wonderful nation. We in China are of a different temperament. We are not so active, but even with that temperament I have found it contagious. I find myself walking more quickly and doing things more rapidly. It is great; it is the secret—energy, activity, push; it is the type of Americanism."

"Then I marvel at the good the rich do with their money. I mean it astounds me to see that so many of the millionaires in this country distribute their wealth to universities, to libraries, to hospitals and to great public improvements and enterprises for the education of the people. Mr. Carnegie said he considered himself an agent for the disposition of his money for the benefit of the people. There is very little of that spirit abroad."

"Of course there are misers. We have them in China. There are many rich men there, you know, and some of them hold on to their money closely. I suppose there are plenty of misers in this country, too, but that doesn't detract from the splendid example of the men like Carnegie and Rockefeller and others who are pouring out their money for the benefit of the public. I do not mean to say they are giving enough or half enough. It is the trait that interests and impresses me."

After awhile the conversation turned to literature.

"What do you think of American literature?"

"Very good."

"Mr. Wu said it as if the literature of a country only 127 years old needed no further commendation."

"Chinese literature is ancient," continued Mr. Wu. "It goes back twenty-eight centuries before Christ. It is voluminous. Its classics are wonderful works, great poets, great philosophers. Their works have endured for a great number of years. Your country is young yet, and so is your literature young. In China we venerate age."

Mr. Wu likes a joke. He makes them himself sometimes. Once at a reception a friend was telling him of a young minister who had been preaching in a western town and who had been "called" to an eastern church.

"How much did he get in the west?"

Mr. Wu asked.

"Thirty-five hundred dollars a year."

"And how much will he get in the east?"

"Seven thousand dollars."

"Ah," said Mr. Wu, "it was a very loud call, was it not?"

"What do you think of American fun?"

"Fun? What kind of fun?"

"Jokes, stories, the humor of the press, for instance."

"Oh, I am very fond of it. Everybody seems to be a story teller. It is a great thing to laugh."

"And how about Chinese humor? Are there humorists in China? Do they tell stories there?"

"Certainly, just the same as here. My people like to laugh as well as anybody."

"Can you tell a Chinese story?"

Mr. Wu looked thoughtful, then he chuckled. "I'll tell you a very old Chinese story," he said.

"A man was asked by a friend to stay and have tea. On investigation it was found there was no tea in the house. A servant was sent to get some. Before the servant returned the water was boiling, and it was necessary to pour some cold water into the boiler. This happened several times, and still no tea came. Finally the boiler was full to overflowing, and the host's wife said to her husband, 'As we don't seem likely to get any tea, you had better offer your friend a bath.'"

"That sounds like an American story almost, doesn't it? There are plenty of tales like that in our country."

"Another amusing story is the one about the doctor who had mismanaged a case. He was seized by the people in the house and tied up for a whipping. He managed to free himself and escaped by swimming a river. When he got home, he said to his son, who was just beginning to study medicine: 'Don't be in too much of a hurry with your books. The first and most important thing in the study of medicine is to learn to swim.'"

TALL BUILDING FIRE TEST.

Result of Standpipes Tested on "Flatiron" in New York.

Persons passing along Broadway and Fifth avenue near Twenty-third street, in New York, the other morning found themselves enveloped in clouds of spray, caused by streams of water shooting out over those thoroughfares from the dizzy height of the Flatiron building, which covers the triangular plot bounded by Broadway, Fifth avenue and Twenty-second and Twenty-third streets, says the New York Press. The unexpected deluge was the result of the testing to their fullest capacity by Fire Chief Croker of the standpipes in the building.

The pumping was done by the two most powerful engines in the department—Nos. 1 and 14—and the demonstration 301 feet above the street level was successful in every way. Chief Croker said that no matter how high buildings were, if they had standpipes, the present engines could pump water to the roof tops.

Lieutenant John Rush, supervising engineer of the department, had charge of the steamers in the street, while Croker was with the hose pipe men above. The water was extremely muddy all through the test, notwithstanding the fact that at least 40,000 gallons of water were pumped out of the mains. Nine streams were thrown across Broadway, one from each floor, beginning at the thirtieth and ending at the roof. The water for this display was furnished by Engine No. 1, working to its fullest capacity. After the test a two inch crawfish was found alive in Engine No. 1's pump.

FIRST LADIES OF THE LAND

Remarkable Change Reported in Mrs. McKinley's Health.

Mrs. Roosevelt one can rely upon to be always gracious. Her manner is the passport of liking, and all whom she meets, whether young or old, kinde with her genuine kindness. Tireless indeed would be the journalist who reported each of her pretty deeds. When Mrs. Roosevelt visited Yale, she talked, among others, with Policeman Donnelly, known to every undergraduate as the "best of fellows." Policeman Donnelly approved of Mrs. Roosevelt, and she reciprocated. They became good friends, and when the madam returned to Oyster Bay she sent the peace guardian a photograph of herself, with a line of recognition of the trouble he had been put to, says the Outlook.

It was a small thing, but it was considered, and the world grows ever better for such small kindness. Speaking of Mrs. Roosevelt recalls her predecessor. It is astonishing to learn that Mrs. McKinley has fairly turned her back upon invalidism and waxed recently fat to the extent of forty added pounds.

DEERSLAYER AGED TEN.

He Broke Animal's Leg With a Stone and Then Cut Its Throat.

Eddie Wilbert, the ten-year-old son of E. A. Wilbert, a farmer residing at Ato, Wayne county, Pa., saw a deer crossing a field near his home the other day and started in pursuit, says a Port Jervis (N. Y.) dispatch to the New York Times.

After running a few rods the boy threw a stone which broke one of the animal's hind legs. The lad was then able to overtake the deer and at once attacked it with a club. A fierce fight ensued, and the deer eventually knocked the boy to the ground, but he clung fast and finally dealt it a blow over the head that stunned it. Eddie next ran to his home, where he secured a table carving knife and cut the deer's throat. Then he went after an uncle to help carry the carcass home. The deer weighed 150 pounds.

REMARKABLE OPERATION.

Football Player's Sight Saved by Stitches in His Eyeball.

Four stitches taken in the ball of his eye saved the sight of James G. Mulvihill, a football player of the St. Ignace college team. The operation was performed in the West Side hospital at Chicago, says a recent dispatch to the New York Herald.

The young man was in a laboratory on Oct. 28 filling bottles with soda water when one of the bottles exploded, and pieces of glass struck him in the left eye. A fragment of the glass nearly half an inch in diameter cut through the lids and into the eyeball. The cut was three-eighths of an inch deep and half an inch long in the white of the eye. The operation was performed half an hour later. The injured eye was sewed up with four stitches after several stitches had been taken in the upper and lower lids.

Getting Their Hair Cut.

The Formosans are cutting their hair, whereas there is great jubilation in Japanese government circles. It must be understood that to say "Get your hair cut" to a native of Formosa was formerly the worst form of insult. Almost as soon he would have cut off his head. Now, however, as a sign of submission to Japanese rule and in conformity with civilized customs, he is beginning to shear of his supercilious hair. Every week the governor of Formosa telegraphs to Tokyo the additional number of natives who have cut their hair, just as Lord Kitchener telegraphed from time to time the number of Boers captured.

Danger From River Pollution.

The pollution of rivers and streams by the discharge into them of town sewage and manufacturing wastes is fast becoming a matter of national importance as affecting the health of communities along their banks, says the Municipal Journal and Engineer.

MARK TWAIN WORRIED

Humorist Is Anxious About His Obituary Notices.

PREFERS TO EDIT THEM HIMSELF.

He Requests Any Journals or Periodicals That Have Opportunities of Him to Publish Them Now and Send Him a Marked Copy So That He May Correct "the Verdicts," but not "the Facts."

Mark Twain, the well known humorist, recently wrote to the editor of Harper's Weekly asking him to insert the following amusing advertisement (it-own, agate, inside) and to send the bill to him. He said:

I am approaching seventy. It is in sight. It is only three years away. Necessarily I must go soon. It is but matter of course wisdom, then, that I should begin to set my worldly house in order now, so that it may be done calmly and with thoroughness in place of waiting until the last day, when, as we have often seen, the attempt to set both houses in order at the same time has been marred by the necessity for haste and by the confusion and waste of time arising from the inability of the notary and the ecclesiastic to work together harmoniously, taking turn about and giving each other friendly assistance—not perhaps in fielding, which could hardly be expected, but at least in the minor offices of keeping game and unspiring—by consequence of which conflict of interests and absence of harmonious action a draw has frequently resulted where this ill fortune could not have happened if the houses had been set in order one at a time and hurry avoided by beginning in season and giving to each the amount of time fairly and justly proper to it.

In setting my earthly house in order I find it of moment that I should attend in person to one or two matters which men in my position have long had the habit of leaving wholly to others, with consequences often most regrettable. I wish to speak of only one of these matters at this time, obituaries. Of necessity an obituary is a thing which cannot be so judiciously edited by any hand as by that of the subject of it. In such a work it is not the facts that are of chief importance, but the light which the obituarist shall throw upon them, the meanings which he shall draw from them, the conclusions which he shall draw from them and the judgments which he shall deliver upon them. The verdicts, you understand; that is the danger line.

In considering this matter, in view of my approaching change, it has seemed to me wise to take such measures as may be feasible to acquire by courtesy of the press access to my standing obituaries, with the privilege, if this is not asking too much, of editing not their facts, but their verdicts; this not for present profit further than as concerns my family, but as a favorable influence usable on the other side, where there are some who are not friendly to me.

With this explanation of my motives I will now ask you of your courtesy to make an appeal for me to the public press. It is my desire that such journals and periodicals as have obituaries of me lying in their pigeonholes—with a view to sudden use some day will not wait longer, but will publish them now and kindly send me a marked copy. My address is simply New York city. I have no other that is permanent and not transient.

I will correct them—not the facts, but the verdicts—striking out such clauses as could have a deleterious influence on the other side and replacing them with clauses of a more judicious character. I should of course expect to pay double rates for both the omissions and the substitutions, and I should also expect to pay quadruple rates for all obituaries which proved to be rightly and wisely worded in the originals, thus requiring no emendations at all.

It is my desire to leave these amended obituaries neatly bound behind me as a perennial consolation and entertainment to my family and as an heirloom which shall have a mournful but definite commercial value for my remote posterity.

Girls Find Ideals in Men.

The Camden county (N. J.) Teachers' institute held its closing session recently in the High School auditorium, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger and Times. The opening address was made by Professor Earl Barnes, who took for his topic "Children's Sense of Property." He said that three weeks ago he had sent requests to the several public schools asking that the children write him an essay on their ideals. He learned that almost 100 per cent of the girls wanted to be like some man, 50 or 60 per cent wanted to be like George Washington, while 3 or 4 per cent had foreign ideals.

A Novel Bridal Bouquet.

The bride's bouquet at a recent wedding was in seven sections and was thrown as she left to the six bridesmaids and maid of honor, says Harper's Bazar. Three of the sections held typical gifts—a gold dollar, a gold ring and a gold thimble—representing respectively wealth, matrimony and spinsterhood to the recipient.

New Phase of Race Problem.

Trouble, trouble, trouble. By country, all in blossom. White men get de turkey. En he headin' for de possum! Oh, my honey, What a nice little dog? White men get de turkey. En he headin' for de possum! —Atlanta Constitution.

GROSVENOR'S VISION.

Ohio Representative Sees "Uncle Joe" Cannon in Speaker's Chair.

From the lips of General Grosvenor of Ohio prophetic words, deeply charged with political significance, fell the other day, says a Washington dispatch to the New York Tribune. Gazing into the far distance beyond the ken of mortal eye, that venerable statesman caught a glimpse of the new house of representatives. Softly stroking his white beard, his glance still directed dreamily toward the far distant future, General Grosvenor made the following revelation of the future as it was vouchsafed to his prophetic eye:

"With my prophetic eye I cannot see any one in the speaker's chair but 'Uncle Joe' Cannon. I see him now pounding the desk with his gavel or saving the air with that long arm as he expounds parliamentary law. I can only see 'Santa Claus'—and here the general laid his hand on his own breast—"down in his old seat on the floor. I see Dalzell leading the host in a fight for a rule. I see Balboe in his accustomed place, diplomatic and able. I see Payne and Sherman pursuing their accustomed roles and Littlefield doing business at the old stand. All this I see in my vision, but 'Uncle Joe' in the chair."

OLD TENPINS FOR FUEL.

Novel Device in View of the Shortage in Coal.

Orange, N. J., is facing a coal famine. Small quantities of coal are received daily, but the supply is not equal to one-third of the demand, says the New York Times. One man, a proprietor of a large amusement place, has succeeded in keeping his home warm in spite of the lack of coal.

For a long time it was a mystery how he managed, and at last one day some one opened the furnace door and saw what appeared to be a lot of bottles blazing away furiously. Others were summoned to view the seeming miracle, and at last the proprietor came along and explained that the objects that looked so much like bottles were in reality tenpins.

He explained that in the years he had maintained bowling alleys in the place an almost countless number of tenpins had become too battered to be serviceable. They were made of hardwood and were saturated with varnish, so that when fired they furnished a hotter blaze and lasted as long as a coal fire. The man says he has a supply sufficient to last well into the winter.

INTEREST ON HIS MONEY.

How Two of Uncle Sam's Soldiers Paid a Debt.

Sergeant John Daly had his nose down so close to the blotter the other afternoon that he did not notice two soldiers of the regular army who entered the East Thirty-fifth street station house in New York and stood in front of his desk. Then there was a plunk, and something fell on the desk.

"There's a present for you, sergeant," said one of the soldiers who wore the stripes of a sergeant. "That's a Filipino bolo." "And here's something else," said the other soldier, a corporal, as he threw down before the astonished sergeant a finely chased gold and stone talisman used in Mindanao island in religious ceremonies. "You don't remember the 'two bones' you lent us long ago, do you?" asked the corporal as he laid down a bright five dollar goldpiece. "Here they are back, with interest."

Then Daly remembered that one night before the Spanish war two privates had called on him with a "hard luck story" and he had given $2 to them. They were just back from the Philippines.

HAS THE LOCKJAW HABIT.

Woman Who Was Scared by a Cat Acts From Suggestion.

Dr. Leigh F. Sturges of New York, a specialist in nervous diseases, told a reporter for the New York World the other day that the affliction resembled lockjaw from which Mrs. Eliza Cunningham is suffering in Bellevue hospital from seeing a cat in a fit was not true lockjaw nor any relation to it. The patient, he said, set her jaws through a nervous condition and more by suggestion or habit than anything else, the result of her first fright when a girl. The effect upon her was not mysterious, he said, and the present trouble would soon pass away.

When the patient was sixteen years old, she was thrown into hysterics at the sight of a cat in a fit, and her jaws set, remaining immovable for several days. Ever since then the sight of a cat has affected her more or less, and to see one in a fit is certain to bring on hysterics and a setting of the jaws.

Two Speeches on a Postal Card.

Julius Farshing, a musician of Akron, O., has just completed the task of writing two of Tom L. Johnson's speeches as reported in the Cleveland Plain Dealer during the campaign upon an ordinary postal card. There are 3,536 words in the two speeches, and the writing is properly punctuated. Only with a magnifying glass can it be read. Farshing worked six hours and forty minutes writing the speeches. He used no glass and did most of the work by lamplight.

Novel Decision Regarding Dresses.

A London justice has just made an important decision regarding dressmakers' disputes. He will not have dresses tried on in court because he had long since come to the conclusion that with ordinary dresses any lady could wear a dress to make it look as if it did not fit, and he was also perfectly satisfied that any milliner or dressmaker could do it about and make it fit when it did not do so.

STORIES OF ROOSEVELT

How the President Made a Big Book Contract.

A VERY SMALL BIT OF PAPER USED

He First Proposed to Take a Linen Cuff to Clinch the Arrangement For a Magnificent Edition of Luxe of His Writings—Incidents of Recent Turkey Hunt.

A. R. Keller, president of a Philadelphia publishing house which is preparing to issue a remarkable edition of the writings of President Roosevelt, had a very interesting experience in obtaining Mr. Roosevelt's consent to the publication, says a Philadelphia dispatch to the New York Herald.

Mr. Keller became convinced toward the close of the Spanish-American war that the then Colonel Roosevelt would be a central figure in American politics. He started for Cuba, but missed the colonel, who was then on his way to Montauk Point. Hastening back to Washington, Mr. Keller procured a pass from Secretary of War Alger and set out for Montauk. He tried to get to Colonel Roosevelt at 6 o'clock in the morning and was arrested. Explanations followed, and he was conducted by the colonel in person to his quarters.

Mr. Keller unfolded his mission and was abruptly "turned down." Colonel Roosevelt said other publishers who were his personal friends owned the plates of his books, and he owed fealty to them. Mr. Keller explained that he did not mean to take the published books out of circulation, but to reissue them in magnificent form for circulation by subscription.

Finally the colonel exclaimed, "Hold on, I must think," and jumped upon his horse and rode away at top speed. For more than half an hour he galloped around, finally coming back to the tent. Before Mr. Keller could say a word he was off again and for another half hour galloped over the hills. Returning, with his animal snorting and pawing, Colonel Roosevelt threw himself from the saddle, with the words, "All right, I'll do it."

There was not a scrap of writing material or a pen in the tent. Colonel Roosevelt produced a linen cuff and the publisher a fountain pen. It occurred to them that there might be a blank sheet in some of the letters lying unopened on the colonel's camp bed. A small piece was found, and upon this in duplicate the contract was drawn up. Each piece is about the size of a visiting card.

Negotiations with publishers to gain permission to republish Mr. Roosevelt's works covered more than two years. The royalties demanded and granted are immense, and Mr. Roosevelt will receive a very large portion of the amount. The entire enterprise will be completed inside of the next nine months, and it is estimated that the selling price of the edition will be very nearly $1,000,000.

Here is an unpublished story of President Roosevelt's turkey hunt on the Bull Run battlefield a few days ago, says a Washington dispatch: The president left the turkey blind and started through a great stretch of woodland. He was guided by one of the mighty hunters of the region and was accompanied by William Hayden, whose plantation adjoins that of Representative Ricker, on which the president had been hunting.

The party walked several miles when Mr. Hayden, looking quizzically at the guide, said, "Mr. —, you are lost."

"Not a bit of it," replied the guide.

"What makes you think we are lost?" asked the president.

"Well," replied Mr. Hayden, "there is the sun to the south. We all know that the sun is in that part of the heavens. To reach our destination we should be going due west. We are going due east."

"That is enough for me," cried the president. "I always follow a man who steers in the woods by the sun or the stars."

Mr. Hayden took the president home in a bee line.

During this same turkey hunt three birds flew out of range across Bull Run. The stream at that point is more than a hundred yards wide and armpit deep. One of the energetic Virginians wished to wade the creek and drive the birds back.

"I will have the life of no man on my head," said the president. "It would give you pneumonia. Still, if you think we can get those birds, I am willing to wade that river with you, and we will both take our chances."

Laying Tracks For Automobiles.

The dangers of automobile skidding on the hard asphalt pavements have finally persuaded the authorities of New York to permit the experiment of laying automobile tracks, says the Pittsburgh Dispatch's New York correspondent. An experimental section will first be laid at Murray street, between Broadway and Church streets. A plan of the Automobile Club of America is to have these strips laid across the New Jersey mountains and three connect with the thousand miles of Jersey macadam that radiate from Newark. The cost of the enterprise, it is understood, is to be defrayed by the club.

A Request For Coeducation.

The request of Professor Jacob of Berlin in the interest of coeducation is said to be the last of its kind ever made by a man, says the Pittsburgh Dispatch. He has become a professor in the University of Berlin, and the proviso that the university shall not come into possession of the money until at least two departments are open to women as regular students.

CHANGES IN FASHION.

Ways in Which a Last Year's Gown Can Be Altered.

There is a marked change in the fashion of skirts as well as in that of bodices. It has been threatened for some time past, but the authorities are keeping to graceful, becoming lines, and only occasionally do we see the very wide skirt, and a little fullness to the skirt is a decided improvement; but women, particularly the stout ones, should beware of many folds and stirrings around the hips. Some of the prettiest models of the hour, however, though more trimmed, have the skirts fairly long and rather plain to the knees.

Of course it is difficult to alter a last year's skirt, though it is quite possible to make a success of it. The excessive plainness can be taken off by a shaped blouse of velvet. Whenever it is possible lift the skirt up at the back so as to gain more fullness and insert a little stiffening. In evening dress this can be obviated by the addition of two long soft sash ends, always an effective mode.

The dinner gown shown is of crepe de chine and alencon lace. The brocade sash is of pink satin edged with sable. JUDIC CHOLLET.

CLOTH AND FUR STYLES.

Cloth Coats Trimmed With Strappings—Fur Models.

Cloth much trimmed with flat braids, groupings, stitched or strappings of the material is quite the fashion for coats, and some models have an addition of fur. Furriers are showing less of the bushy type of furs, and ermine is again modish, but is used chiefly as a garniture for dark furs.

White and blue fox figure on sumptuous evening wraps and as stoles and boas with velvet and fur cloth gowns. The tender gradations of gray shown

A TAFETTA STOLE.

In chinilla and mohair are more attractive when combined with both of similar tones and relieved by slight touches of color.

The fur coat is mostly becoming in sack form to wear over a tightly fitted skirt, but the modish woman is better suited by a bolero with a well fitted back and shaped belt.

The taffeta stole shown in the cut is composed of a double fold over the shoulders trimmed with lines of ermine facing done between lapings of narrow ribbon. The stole is of warm material with a band of silk around the hem to match the stole, which band is ornamented with oval of ermine.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

Rye as a Cover Crop.

In reply to the inquiry of a Pennsylvania correspondent about the use of rye I would say it will undoubtedly serve a most excellent purpose for a cover crop under certain conditions. It is not to be recommended for all purposes, particularly on land that is deficient in nitrogen. It should be borne in mind that rye will add practically no plant food to the soil when turned under in the spring as a green manuring crop. On the other hand, leguminous crops will probably add something to the store of plant food already in the soil. It is true that rye when turned under as a green manuring crop may materially aid the succeeding crop indirectly. If the crop is too alkaline, the plowing under of a considerable amount of green rye in the spring will tend to neutralize the soil. The decomposition of the rye in the soil would also tend to liberate the plant food that is in the soil. The rye, however, will not add directly to the store of plant food. Some of the vetches or crimson clover would be preferred if additional nitrogen is desired. Rye is hardy, quick growing and will endure the rigors of the winter well and on this account is oftentimes highly prized as a cover crop. The purposes for which the cover crop is desired should determine whether rye is best suited or not.—Professor G. C. Watson, Pennsylvania State College.

Coal as Corn.

Already talk is current of burning corn in Kansas on account of the high price of coal and the large crop of corn. This talk may be taken with a considerable grain of salt. It is not unlikely that corn which will grade contract will bring a pretty fair price in the market this winter, as reports from the northern section of the corn belt, including Iowa and Nebraska, are to the effect that a large proportion of the crop will not grade. It is possible that a shortage of coal may materialize which will make a virtue of necessity, and some farmers situated at a distance from markets may possibly find it profitable to use corn as fuel, but such conditions will scarcely prevail over any considerable portion of the Sunflower State. The hungry mouths of cattle and swine will likely afford a far more profitable storage for corn than the stoves and ranges. Let us hope that such an anomalous condition as the use of corn for fuel will not again be noted even in the state where great corn grows and nature has been rather niggard of dusky diamonds.

Shun the Hoof Burner.

That odor of burned hoofs which one gets in passing a blacksmith shop is an offense to the nostrils, and the cause of it should be an offense to any one who has respect for the horse. This burning of the hoofs every time the animal is shod is a lazy or incompetent man's makeshift for fitting the shoes, and the practice is on a par with the use of embalming fluid in milk to avoid thorough washing of the cans. Now and then a blacksmith may be found with enough common sense and mechanical genius to fit a shoe properly without burning the hoof. We would go several miles out of our way to have work done by him.—Rural New Yorker.

Lime and Phosphoric Acid.

Should lime and acid phosphate be applied to a field the same season? The man who knows only pure chemistry will be quick to say that it should not. The lime would cause the soluble phosphoric acid to revert and become insoluble. But the Ohio station tested the matter in the field, and the half plates receiving the lime and acid phosphate have better clover and grass than the half plates receiving phosphate alone or lime alone. Others have got similar results, and thus again are our greatest obligations due only to those scientists broad enough to make the field a part of their laboratory in soil investigations.

Fix Up For Winter.

It is better to have everything in good condition than to have to make repairs when weather conditions force it. All leaky roofs should be attended to first, for they are costly, as they cause destruction and loss in crops and other conditions. Broken panes in the sashes, loose boards, sagging doors, mangers or feed racks out of repair should all now be promptly attended to. There is nothing like having everything in perfect condition when it becomes necessary to house the stock and store the crops.

Dry Fruit Seeds.

The seeds of all fruits should not be allowed to become very dry before planting, but they need not be kept wet. They are the better for fall planting, but may be stratified or mixed with moist earth and kept over winter in perfect condition. When early spring comes, they should be planted in good garden soil, about one inch deep, and in rows that will allow good tillage. The seeds may be sent by mail or express in a reasonably dry state to any part of this country.

The Apple Crop.

The New England Broadhead estimates this year's apple crop at 4,000,000 barrels against 27,000,000 barrels last year. The quality is rather unsatisfactory in the central and western states, but in New England better than last year. The New York crop is reported as large. This is contrary to general reports from that state, which indicate that the crop there is spotted—in some sections large and in others decidedly deficient.

GRANVILLE.

Dedication of the Doane Organ—Burial of Mrs. Lewis, Who Died in Zanesville.

Granville, O., Nov. 21.—The dedication exercises of the Recital Hall organ, the gift of Dr. W. H. Doane, of Cincinnati, were held in the Recital Hall on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The program consisted of a recital given by Mr. Frederick E. Cluff, assisted by Miss Stranathan, Miss Blinn and Mr. Judson, and was as follows:

J. S. Bach, Toccata and Fugue in D Minor.
Mendelssohn, Adagio from First Sonata.

Thomas-Eddy, Gavotte from "Mignon."

Guilmant, Berceuse.

Lachner-Lux, Marche Celebre.

Masagnì, "Sweet be Thy Rest," Intermezzo from Cavalleria Rusticana.

Guilmant, Pastorale.

Batiste, Offertoire to St. Cecilia.

The recital was very much enjoyed by all who were so fortunate as to be present. The new organ is a particularly fine one, beautifully toned and well suited for the hall, and the gift of Dr. Doane is very much appreciated.

During the evening Dr. Hunt introduced Mr. E. M. Thresher of Dayton, who addressed the audience. Mr. Thresher said that they had hoped to hear from Dr. Doane, who was present at the exercises, but that Dr. Doane was too modest to address the company, but that every tone of the organ would remind the listener of the kind and thoughtful giver.

Mr. Tamblin, of Cleveland, entered school at Denison this week and was cordially welcomed by all the students.

Prof. Colwell of Denison, will be absent from his class room for a few days.

The students of Denison will take advantage of the low rates offered by the railroad companies to spend the Thanksgiving recess at their homes.

Messrs. Robert Sullivan, Charles Chapman and Mrs. S. S. Chamberlain of Dayton, were the guests at tea at Shepherdson college on Wednesday evening.

Miss Bond of Chicago, who has been the charming guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hunt left on Thursday for New Haven, Conn., and after spending a few days there Miss Bond will return to Granville.

Major W. M. Williams is quite sick at his home on North Pearl street.

Work on the President's house, being built on the site of the President's old house, on College Hill, is rapidly progressing.

The "Chicken Pie" supper and social, which for the past few years has been given to Granville people by the men of the Presbyterian church once a year, and which has always been a great success, was held on Wednesday evening in the parlors of the church. The supper was a complete success in every detail, and was much enjoyed by the large number of people who were in attendance.

Mrs. Mary A. Lewis, mother of ex-Mayor J. L. Lewis, formerly of this place, but now of Newark, died in Zanesville on Tuesday, November 18. Mrs. Lewis was born in Winchester, Va., March 21, 1828. The remains were brought to Granville and the funeral services were held in the Methodist church on Thursday afternoon. Interment was made in the beautiful Maple Grove cemetery.

Mrs. S. S. Chamberlain of Dayton, O., is a guest at Shepherdson College this week. Mrs. Chamberlain is the widow of the late Samuel Scovel Chamberlain, to whose memory was dedicated last spring the S. S. Chamberlain lodge of Phi Gamma Delta.

The football game between Denison and Ohio University of Athens, scheduled to take place on Beaver field, here tomorrow, has been cancelled. The second team of Denison, however, will play the Lancaster High School team on Beaver field, and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance.

Subscribers to the Columbus papers here failed to receive their papers on Thursday evening. Two hoboes had carried off the papers after they had been thrown from the car.

SMOTHER A COUGH.

You can smother a cough with your hand but you can't cure it that way. Some medicines only smother coughs.

Scott's Emulsion cures them. Old coughs and deep-rooted coughs can't be cured until the inflammation which causes them has been replaced by healthy tissue.

That is exactly the kind of thorough work Scott's Emulsion does. It changes the entire nature of the throat and lungs so that there is nothing to cough about.

SAMBO'S RIGHT TO BE KILT

By Charles G. Halpine
(Private Miles O'Reilly)

CHARLES GRAHAM HALPINE ("Private Miles O'Reilly") was a native of Ireland who did valiant service for America, the country of his adoption. He was graduated from Trinity college, Dublin, and became a journalist. In 1882 Halpine came to America and worked for Boston and New York papers. He served in the civil war, rising to the rank of brevet brigadier general of volunteers. The poem given below was written in answer to the protest against enlisting negroes in the Union army. Halpine died in 1888 at the age of thirty-nine.

SOME tell us 'tis a burnin' shame To make the niggers fight. An' that the thrade of bein' kilt Belongs but to the white: But as for me, upon my soul! So liberal are we here, I'll let Sambo be murdered instead of myself.

On every day in the year, boys, On every day in the year, boys, And in every hour of the day: The right to be kilt I'll divide with him. An' an' civil a word I'll say.

In battle's wild commotion I shouldn't at all object If Sambo's body should stop a ball. "That was comin' for me direct: And the prod of a Southern bagnet, So cinerous are we here, I'll resign, and let Sambo take it On every day in the year.

On every day in the year, boys, And wid none of your nasty pride, All my right in a Southern bagnet I'll let Sambo I'll divide!

The men who object to Sambo Should take his place and fight; And it's better to have a nigger's hue

Than a liver that's wake an' white Though Sambo's black as the ace of spades.

His finger a trigger can pull, And his eye runs straight on the target—eight! From under his thatch of wool, So he'll me all boys darlin', Don't think I'm upon you chaff, The right to be kilt we'll divide wid him.

And give him the largest half!
